Dear Mr Osei

Application for In-house Illustrator

I am applying for the In-house Illustrator post at Tallowfield Learning. For six years I have worked as a freelance illustrator for children's and educational publishers, and before that I spent two years drawing game art at Copperkettle Games in Sheffield.

For Fernbrook Education I have drawn 320 spot illustrations for a Key Stage 2 science and history series, working to the series style guide. I research each unit before the first rough and agree every batch with the editor through two rounds of roughs, and every file goes to print in CMYK at 300 dpi with bleed.

The first six images in my portfolio come from that series, and the next four from The Lighthouse Fox, one of four picture books I have illustrated for Hollin Press. Each book was delivered in time for its print date.

Your primary science resources need the same clear, friendly drawing that I do for Fernbrook, and I would like to work beside your designers every day rather than at a distance. My CV is attached, with the link to my portfolio. Thank you for considering my application.

Yours sincerely

Cerys Bevan
